Bay neighbors among Legion founders

By ELLIS CUEVAS
Two gentlemen who played important roles in the formation of the American Legion live only a few miles across the Bay of St. Louis from each other. Their roles in events of year-one for the Legion are emphasized this year with the group currently assembled in New Orleans for its 60th annual convention.
This writer has had the unique opportunity of knowing for many years Henry Capdepon Sr. of Bay St. Louis who was in Paris, France, as an American marine and attended the first caucus of the American Legion, and E. Davis McCutcheon of Pass Christian, one of 12 delegates from Louisiana to attend the 1919 organization of the American Legion in St. Louis, Mo.
Capdepon was honored by the American Legion last year as the only man from Mississippi serving continuously as a Legionnaire for 60 years. McCutcheon says he is the only survivor of the 12 delegates from Louisiana to attend the organizational meeting of the American Legion in St. Louis.
On Tuesday, August 8, I had the honor of bringing these two Legion founders together at the Capdepon residence for a joint interview.

HENRY CAPDEPON SR.
Henry Capdepon Sr. was born in Bay St. Louis June 6, 1898, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Peter Capdepon.
Capdepon graduated from St. Stanislaus High School in the class of 1915. He said, "I graduated from St. Stanislaus with Felix Blanchard, the father of the All-American Football player from Army, Felix 'Doc' Blanchard Jr., also, a graduate of Stanislaus."
Capdepon, in his 60 years as a Legionnaire, served six times as post commander, was the first Adjutant of Clement R. Bontemps American Legion Post No. 139, Bay St. Louis. He said he wasn't a charter member of the post because the woman who started the post didn't think he qualified.
The American Legion Post in Bay St. Louis was started by Mrs. Marg Gager.
CAPDEPON-Page 4A

E. DAVIS MCCUTCHEON
E. Davis McCutcheon was born on Christmas Day, 1897, in New Orleans. McCutcheon graduated from Tulane University in 1928 and immediately enlisted in the Army.
He was sent to Camp Jackson, Columbia, S. C. He was assigned to a Field Artillery company.
He passed the Officers Candidate School and was to be a member of the Nov. 15 OCS class at Louisville. World War I ended and the class was canceled on Nov. 11.
As the war ended McCutcheon was a corporal in Regimental Headquarters. With Christmas and his birthday coming up McCutcheon managed to get discharged in time to spend both occasions at home in New Orleans.
In 1913 McCutcheon said he found out what a Rock-A-Chaw was when his high school class was in New Orleans.

recipients of the third annual Community Service Awards of American Legion Post No. 77.

The awards were presented in ceremonies at the Bourgeois-Stieffel-Ray Post Home on Coleman Avenue in Waveland Saturday night. The affair included cocktail hour, banquet, awards presentation and dance.

Recipient of the Education Award is Mildred Means, Waveland librarian. Lucien Gex, who serves as Waveland city attorney, attorney for the Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School District, attorney for the Mississippi Marine Conservation Commission, and judge of the Waveland City Court, was cited in the Business and Professional category.

Civic Affairs Award winner is Mrs. Esther Oschman, a pioneer New Orleans professional woman and Waveland resident.
A special Award for Honored Achievement went to Rev. Canlisus Hayes, pastor of St. Ann's Catholic Church, Lakeshore. Father Hayes was out of the area on vacation, and his award was accepted by Rev. dePaul (Friar Tuck) Landrigan of Pearlington.
The Post's Outstanding Legionaire of the Year Award went to Donald Decker.

NASA plans 1st Local Leader's Orientation Day

Various federal agencies of NASA's National Space Technology Laboratories will stage their first 'Community Orientation Day' for leaders of Bay St. Louis, Waveland and Hancock County Wednesday, August 23.

Registration will begin at 8:15 a.m. with orientation starting at 8:30 a.m. in the Gainsville Room of NSTL's Building 1100.

In the morning session of the two-part program, representatives of each NSTL federal agency will make brief presentations, describing their functions, examples of work and types of positions they need to fill now or will need in the future.
Agencies to be included in the briefings are NASA, U.S. Geological Survey, Naval Ocean Research and Development Activity, National Marine Fisheries, NOAA Data Buoy Office, Naval Oceanographic Office, Naval Oceanography and Meteorology and U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service.
The afternoon session will include a tour of facilities of the various agencies where demonstrations of work performed by those departments will be given.

In Depreo investigation

Defense attorney not guilty of trespassing

By RICH ADAMS
James Atchison, attorney for Charles E. (Chuck) Depreo, defendant in the Janice Ladner murder case, and Atchison's private investigator Herman Bridges were found not guilty by Justice Court Judge Joe Dobson Tuesday night of trespassing charges filed against them by Earl 'Buck' Ladner.

Atchison and Bridges were arrested August 4 by Hancock County Sheriff Sylvan Ladner's Chief Deputy Ron Peterson after Dobson issued arrest warrants for the two based on affidavits filed by Earl Ladner, husband of the murder victim.

Atchison, of Mobile, Ala., is representing Depreo who has been indicted by a Hancock County Grand Jury for the April 8 murder of the Waveland school teacher, aggravated assault by gunshot on the couple's six-year-old daughter Joyce Lynn, and for arson in the burning of the Ladner home that night in Kiln.

Depreo's trial is set for October 16 in Hancock County Courthouse.

Earl Ladner, estranged husband of the dead woman, filed the trespass affidavits against the attorney and his investigator after hearing reports that seven people were on his land off Moran Road where the murder took place.

Earl Ladner testified at the Tuesday night hearing, stating he had posted signs on each side of his driveway reading 'Keep Off' and 'Private Property' to keep sightseers away.

Ladner said he had last seen the signs a week before the affidavits were filed.

He claimed one sign was missing two days after Atchison and Bridges were arrested when he again went to his property, and the other sign was torn in three pieces and on the ground.

During cross examination by Atchison, representing himself at the trial, Earl Ladner stated he, "I am not going to assist the defense in the murder case in any way," but admitted he had never told Atchison personally to stay off the land.

In spite of numerous warnings from Judge Dobson to limit his answers to a simple 'yes' or 'no,' Ladner warned Atchison, "You will not go on my land unless accompanied by law enforcement officers."

County Prosecutor John Chevris called two other witnesses who stated there were no trespassing signs on the Earl Ladner land.

Cheryl Brown, one of the state witnesses, stated she saw "two cars and some people" on the property on August 4, but didn't recognize either of the defendants as having been on the land on the date in question.

Chief Deputy Ron Peterson was called to the stand and said that Atchison and Bridges were arrested at the sheriff's office after admitting having been on the property.

Atchison argued in his closing address to the court that he had not been told orally or in writing to stay off Ladner's land.

He accused Earl Ladner of interfering with due process and adding Earl Ladner was depriving Depreo of a fair trial by keeping Atchison from investigating the murder scene.

"I was on the scene of the murder looking for evidence," said Atchison. "In a murder case I have always gone over the murder site. I have an

BWYC sailors take two major titles

By MALIN CHAMBERLIN
BWYC Reporter

Two Bay Waveland Yacht Club skippers placed first and second in the Flying Scot Sailing Association's National Men's Championship at Riverside, Conn., and four BWYC ladies sailed to four first place finishes to win the Knot Regatta in Pass Christian.

Marc Egan, 1977 winner of the men's competition at Riverside, slipped by his brother Bobby taking first place by 2.5 points.

Approximately 70 skippers from all over the country were attempting to take the trophy away from Marc Egan in Connecticut this past weekend.

Tom Ehnman of Michigan placed third. Marc and Bobby are sons of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Egan of Bay St. Louis and New Orleans, and have been sailing competitively for BWYC and Southern Yacht Club in New Orleans for several years, capturing numerous titles and trophies.

Cindy Stieffel, Ellen Egan, Judy McKinney and Amy Chapman captured four first place finishes in the Knot Regatta at Pass Christian Yacht Club over the weekend and returned to BWYC with the Knot Cup trophy.

The Knot, a three-race series for ladies, was hosted by the BWYC, with most Gulf Yachting Association Clubs competing. The series was won by the BWYC ladies.

Due to a protest, a fourth race was run Sunday, and McKinney, Egan and Chapman took another first place to win the Knot trophy. Gulfport Yacht Club took second place, and Pass Christian captured third.

County school calendar delay OK'd by board

By RICH ADAMS
Registration for all schools in the Hancock County District has been delayed one week until Friday, August 25, due to construction delays at Hancock North Central.

Registration for Charles B. Murphy and Gulfview Elementaries, and the Hancock North Central Attendance Center will be held one week later than originally planned if construction on three classrooms and a cafeteria at HNC is complete at that time.

Classes will start Monday, August 28. The changes in the school calendar were approved by the Hancock County School Board at a recess meeting Wednesday morning.

Kiln Water District deadline is Sept. 30

By ELLIS CUEVAS
In a Monday night meeting, members of the Kiln Fire and Water Protection District (KF&WPD) were told by Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) the district has until Sept. 30 to secure the needed 350 subscribers to the water system.

Cleveland Wyatt, district president, said Tuesday a total of 187 members are already signed.

The membership fee of $25 is placed in an escrow account at Hancock Bank and cannot be used until the system gets enough members and is approved by FmHA, according to Wyatt.

If enough signatures are not secured and FmHA doesn't allow the District to proceed the $25 will be refunded to each person.

Wyatt stated, "A full scale, all-out effort on the part of the district's members will be made to secure the required membership."
"We cannot let this grant money slip from our hands. It is urgent that we develop a water and fire protection system in the Kiln area now," added Wyatt.

Pope's final appointment

St. Augustine priest elevated to bishop

Rev. Raymond Caesar, SVD, 46, a veteran Divine Word Missionary priest and vicar general of the Diocese of Goroka in New Guinea has been named auxiliary bishop of Goroka, with the right of succession.

He was the last bishop to be named by Pope Paul VI before his death August 6. Bishop-elect Caesar will succeed the Most Rev. John Cokill, SVD, the Ordinary of Goroka.

He has been a missionary in Papua, New Guinea, since 1962. He was born and raised in Eunice, La., and began training for the missionary priesthood at Divine Word Seminary, Bay St. Louis, in 1947.

He professed his first vows as a religious in the Society of the Divine Word in 1953 and was ordained to the priesthood in 1961. He was missioned to Papua, New Guinea, in 1962 after completing his master's degree in education at the Catholic University of

Keesler Hurricane Hunters update aircraft equipment

Installation of new equipment in Hurricane Hunters that it has been, Sadler WC-130's at Keesler Air Force Base will make the work of the 53rd Weather Reconnaissance Squadron considerably easier, WRS and a resident of Ocean Springs, explains the reasons why.

"Most electronic navigation aids are hampered by adverse weather. That is fine for most that have to fly into the storm, aircraft because they are taught to avoid the very weather we are sent out to investigate."

"The new Omega Navigation Equipment is faster and much more sophisticated than the instruments it replaces. We have to punch out of the National Hurricane Center storm, establish our position, and that residents eventually, then back track to figure out where we were."

The new equipment with its advanced antenna should eliminate that problem. The position of the eye will be determined exactly and instantaneously," Rice added. The new equipment also does automatically what used to be done manually by the navigator. Such information as wind speed and direction, ground speed, and aircraft course is now available at the turn of a switch.

This affords the navigator more time to monitor the aircraft radar to avoid the severe weather that might cause damage to the aircraft or jury to the crew.

"All in all," says Rice, "the crews love it and I'm sure the people that we serve will be more confident knowing that we have the latest equipment."

PRC—Stennis night classes require minimum of ten

Pearl River College will offer academic night classes at Poplarville, Purvis, Piquette, Bay St. Louis, and Columbia this fall.

This is only a tentative night class schedule since it is necessary to enroll a minimum of 10 students for each class to be taught.

PRC will offer the following classes and any other course outlined in the college catalogue if 10 or more students enroll.

The tuition is $15 per semester, books plus a $5 registration fee. Most classes are three-hour courses which means the normal cost is $45 per course. All fees are payable at the organizational meeting.

There will be no waiting lists with a first-come, first-served policy. As mentioned in the event 10 or more students do not register, the proposed class will be cancelled.

The academic organizational meeting for Bay St. Louis is scheduled for August 28-30, Monday through Wednesday, 8 a.m. to 4 p.m., and August 31-September 1, Thursday and Friday, 8 a.m. to 4 p.m., at Hancock County Vocational Technical Center at Stennis Field. The following courses are proposed:

City school system tells bus routes under new law

A new era in public school transportation will begin on August 22 for the Bay-Waveland School District. New laws provide for free transportation for all students who live one mile or more from the school they attend.

When first implemented, this law will probably create mild confusion due to the fact that in certain areas of the district, families will find that some of their children are entitled to transportation while others are not. The key question being, how far away is the school the particular child attends.

The number of students transported in the Bay-Waveland district will almost triple this year as the new law is implemented. Yet, the district is adding only three new busses to its fleet which already numbered ten.

The district's transportation supervisor this summer has attempted to design new bus routes and revise old routes in order to best meet the transportation needs of the district. Routes and stops are scheduled so as to best serve those areas where most of the students reside, according to Donald Caldwell, assistant superintendent.

Following is a listing of those streets that busses will travel each morning. Afternoon routes may be slightly different in some cases. All students living on these streets are not eligible for transportation to all schools. Only those who live one mile or more from the school they attend are eligible. Anyone desiring information concerning routes, stops, or eligibility for transportation should call the assistant superintendent's office, 467-9241.

SAVE ENERGY! SAVE MONEY ON AIR CONDITIONING COST! INTRODUCING THE AMAZING:

MIST-MIZER

Now you can save energy and cut big central air conditioning utility bills at the same time. Actual tests show that by using the amazing Mist-Mizer you cut electricity consumption and cut cooling costs by as much as 35%.

HOW MIST - MIZER WORKS.

Mist-Mizer employs evaporation to help your central air conditioner operate more efficiently and use less electric power. Air conditioners work best when the Freon stays between 95 and 100 degrees Fahrenheit. When the Freon temperature reaches above this range, the air conditioning unit efficiency decreases, the unit stays on longer than necessary and uses more electricity.

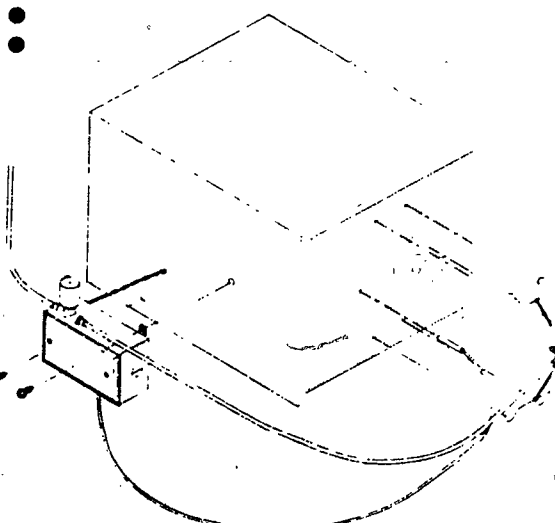

Mist-Mizer uses a water fogging system to cool the Freon tubes. When the air conditioner is turned on, the Mist-Mizer turns on, spraying a light fog of water over the Freon tubes. When the Freon temperature drops, the Mist-Mizer shuts off and automatically comes on as necessary.

Besides saving energy and money, the Mist-Mizer actually extends the life of your air conditioner because it lessens total operating time. Plus with the Mist-Mizer the conditioned air blown into your home is much cooler.

EASY TO INSTALL

Mist-Mizer is easy to install on any round, horseshoe or square central unit whether it blows or draws air through the condenser coils. Easy-to-follow illustrated instructions come with every Mist-Mizer. Water is supplied by connecting a garden hose to a fitting supplied with the unit or attachment to an existing water faucet. The added cost to your water bill to operate Mist-Mizer is nominal.

Port Bienville barge builder launches 8, working on 50

Bergeron Marine, Inc., a subsidiary of Bergeron Industries, Inc., has commenced barge construction and launching operations at the company's 40-acre shipyard facility at the Port Bienville Industrial Park complex near Pearlington.

Formerly the site of the Jackson Landing Shipyard, the facility has undergone considerable reconstruction by Bergeron Marine, with installation of barge assembly beds a rail transfer system, and extensive underground electrical, oxygen, and propane supply systems.

Specializing at present in the construction of barges from prefabricated parts, the facility expects to expand operations to include full repair services in the near future, according to a company spokesman.

For such purposes a 200-ft. concrete wharf for the mooring, outfitting, and repair of vessels has been installed at the facility.

With a backlog of some 50 or more barges, Bergeron Marine has launched eight barges, including deck-cargo and crane-derrick types.

Barges under construction at the new facility follow an assembly-line process through various building stages via the rail transfer system.

Upon completion, they are launched from one of several launch ways into a 12-foot channel near the junction of the Gulf Intracoastal Waterway and the East Pearl River.

Bergeron Marine presently employs some 40 to 50 persons at the new shipyard, with plans to increase that complement to 100 persons by the end of this year.

City Clerk stresses need for voters' re-registration

By RICH ADAMS
Bay St. Louis City Clerk and Registrar of Voters Eddie Engelhorn is asking all City residents to re-register to vote at his office in City Hall prior to November 1 of this year.

"Last year when the new form of government was voted in, the city went from three wards or voting districts under the commission-council government to four wards with the new mayor-council government," he said.

"Last year the registrar didn't have time to call for re-registration, so he got maps of the City and tried to put everybody in their proper ward, but it was an impossible task," Engelhorn continued.

"The result was a lot of confusion, and a lot of people couldn't vote in their district," he added.

"It is common practice to have voters re-register every ten years, and Bay St. Louis hasn't done it in eight years," Engelhorn explained.

"If an election were held right now, the polling places would have two books listing registered voters," he explained.

One would list voters in the old three-ward form of government, and the other would list them under the four-ward system.

"If there were an election now, people listed in the old book could still vote," he said.

"After November 1, 1978, if voters have not re-registered and their name doesn't appear in the new book, they cannot vote," he added.

Engelhorn said he will be available at his office in City Hall, telephone 467-9080, or may be contacted anytime at his home, 467-7916.

"I'm doing all I can to get people re-registered," he continued.

"I stay open between noon and 1 p.m. so people can come in during lunch. I'll bring the register book down to a car if somebody who can't climb the steps wants to re-register," he added.

The City Clerk's office will be open Saturday, August 19 between 9 a.m. and 1 p.m. to re-register people who can't make it during the week.

"I could go on and on about civic pride and prerogative not to vote, but if you don't exercise your right to vote, we could end up like Russia or other such countries," Engelhorn said.

Engelhorn has noted there is the possibility a special election may be called before Nov. 1 in connection with payment of the City's debt in the James Warner case.

Garriga reunion at McLeod Park draws some 125

Some 125 persons attended the fifth generation Ramon Garriga reunion Aug. 5 at McLeod Park in Hancock County.

The event marked the first reunion of the family, members of which traveled from as far away as Utah to attend.

Others came from Louisiana, Alabama, Tennessee and other states, according to Franklin J. Cuevas of Gulfport, reunion chairman.

Included among the family members were Bishop Dudley Garriga and his wife of the Mormon Church in Salt Lake City.

The family's second annual reunion is planned also at McLeod Park on the first Sunday in May, 1979.

Planning committee for next year's event includes Norman Garriga of Gulfport; Sandra Moran, Allyne Moran, Jewel Hirsch and Gaynel Moran, all of Hancock County.

NSTL symposium eyes Loch Ness Monster

New developments in techniques and systems for exploring ocean depths will be presented at a symposium sponsored by the Society of Exploration Geophysicists (SEG) in conjunction with the U.S. Navy at the National Space Technology Laboratories (NSTL), today and Friday.

Some 200 scientists and engineers specialize exploration and study of the ocean bottom are expected to attend from around the country and Canada.

Theme of the meeting is "Acoustic Imaging and On Board Data Recording and Processing Equipment."

Opening addresses will be delivered by E. John Northwood, president of the SEG, and the Rear Admiral A. J. Baciocco, who recently became chief of Naval research.

Navy personnel from the Naval Ocean Research and Development Activity (NORDA) and the Naval Oceanographic Office (NAVOCEANO) located at NSTL will present seven of the 25 reports to be heard at the symposium.

Among the presentations will be a description of a concept of a Hydrographic Airborne Laser Sounder (HALS) that can quickly and inexpensively chart the bottom of shallow coastal waters.

There will also be a report on the Versatile Experimental Kevlar Array (VEKA). This system now in the testing stage uses strong, light weight, low stretch Kevlar cable to produce an array for making acoustic measurements that can be towed or moored, and deployed horizontally or vertically. (Kevlar is an aramid fiber material developed for radial tires and also now used for ultra light bullet-proof vests.)

Another Navy report will describe a vertical acoustic array that can be moored to the sea floor and collect acoustic data for up to six months.

Preparations on side scan sonar imaging will include a report on a system that was used in the 1976 search for the Loch Ness Monster, which established that there are "large, moving objects" in Loch Ness.

A variety of new high resolution sonar images made during a new Loch Ness search just completed this summer are scheduled to be shown.

A Canadian team will also describe an imaging system under development that has been used to search for ships sunk during the war of 1812.

Tri-county unemployment shows decline

The unemployment rate in the tri-county area of Hancock, Harrison and Stone Counties continued to drop below last year's figures, reports the Mississippi State Employment Service.

The rate of unemployed this year dropped to 7.1 percent in the area, a 1.8 percent decrease from a reported 8.9 percent for June 1977, the service stated.

The rate of unemployment at mid-June was 7.1 percent of the labor force, which is an increase from a 6.4 percent rate for May, 1978, but compares favorably with a high 8.9 percent rate in June of last year," the report indicated.

"Reasons for this advance are caused by the seasonal surge of new and reentrants into the labor force after the closing of schools for the summer vacation period," the report added.

The civilian labor force took a leap of 1,400 over June last year, and the unemployed dropped nearly 1,000 for the same period.

Manufacturing employment showed an increase of 340 from May to June 1978.

The food industry and related services was the leader in employment hikes, caused by the seasonal addition to seafood processing payrolls, the report indicated.

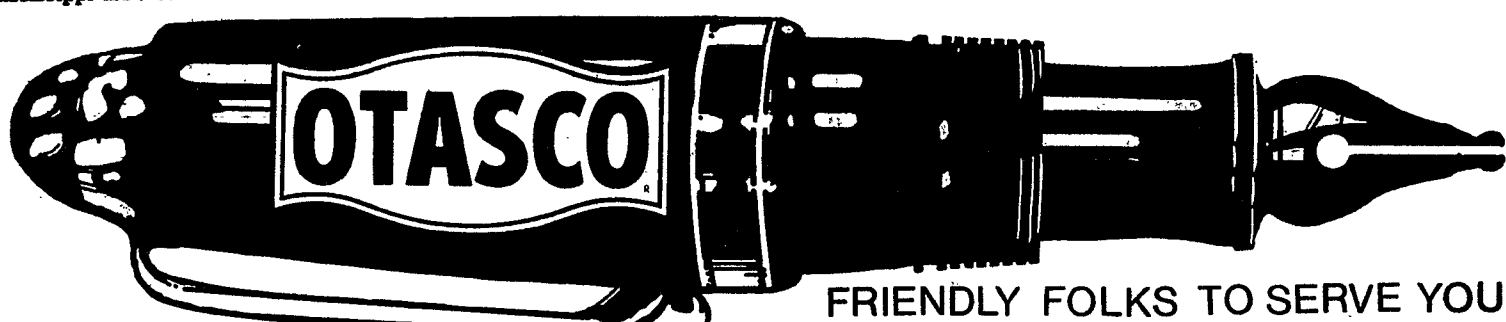

Construction was the only category to show a drop in employment between the months of May and June this year, the service reported.

Emergency care and first aid course underway

The Hancock County Chapter, American National Red Cross, is sponsoring a six-week course in advanced first aid and emergency care at the Civil Defense Council offices in Valena C. Jones Center, Bay St. Louis.

Enrollment is still open for persons 17 and older, with younger students allowed to audit the course without credit, according to Chief Edward Friloux of the Diamondhead Fire Department, lead instructor for the course.

Introductory session of the course was held Wednesday, but registration remains open, Friloux noted. The second session is slated for 7 to 10 p.m. Friday at the VCI Center.

Course fees include $3.50 for text book and $3.50 for disposable supplies. Students are requested to wear comfortable clothes to class.

Classes are scheduled on Wednesday and Friday evenings with some Monday evening and Saturday sessions.

Areas of study include emergency childbirth, cardio-pulmonary resuscitation, artificial respiration, open and closed wounds, burns, exposure to radiation, heat stroke, frostbite, bone and joint injuries, emergency rescue and transfer, extrication from and automobile and others.

In addition to Friloux, instructors include Richard Peneguy, NSTL Fire Department; Ann Peneguy, Bay St. Louis Fire Department; and Michael Williams, Diamondhead and Bay St. Louis Fire Departments.

Friloux said persons interested in enrolling should contact him at home, 467-1221, or at the Diamondhead Fire Department, 255-1421, ext. 243, or call the Civil Defense office, 467-4226.

Fort Benning motor pool goes coed

Pfc. Peggy A. Cheney repairs a wheeled vehicle at the fort.

Privates First Class Peggy A. Cheney and Mary A. Beaulieu are identical twin sisters and both are wheeled-vehicle mechanics in Company D, 197th Support Battalion of the 197th Infantry Brigade at Ft. Benning, Ga.

The girls, daughters of retired Army Sfc. and Mrs. Patrick F. Cheney of 643 Carroll Ave., Bay St. Louis, talked it over and decided to join the Army together in April of last year. Peggy joined for the benefits and Mary joined for the job opportunities.

Their father had painted a pretty good picture of the military so both knew what to expect. But Peggy thinks the discipline isn't quite as tough as she had been brought to believe.

Both girls replied in unison that their father loved the idea of them joining the military. Although they believe their mother had some reservations about it.

They decided to become wheeled-vehicle mechanics because it was the only job that caught their interest. When asked how they coped working around men Peggy replied, "the guys we work with are O.K., because they know us. But some of the guys around here can get really rough and rude with their language." Mary adds, "it is most unusual getting the guys to believe we can handle our job."

During the typical workday, both girls repair and change major assemblies in military vehicles. "I really like being a vehicle mechanic. It's easy and there isn't much heavy lifting to it," stated Mary. Peggy added, "I enjoy everything about the job. It's just what I want to do."

Mary met her husband, Peter C. Beaulieu, who is also a wheeled-vehicle mechanic with the company, at work and they were married in May of this year. They both reside at 3150 Plateau Drive, number of federal students required to obtain funds under the federal employees impact program.

School delay...

'Federal students' are those whose parents live in the school district and are employed by the Federal Government.

Randolph said he had checked with agencies in Washington, and the district will be able to file for federal funds without the students who were released Wednesday.

A six percent increase in federal students over a four year period is necessary to obtain the federal monies, the superintendent explained.

"We've had a 12 percent increase in federal students in the past four years, so we're still eligible for a grant," Randolph said.

"If a bond issue passes this year, I will not release any children. I am in favor of releasing students as long as releasing them doesn't effect federal funds," he added.

Oris Ladner moved to release the eight students, and the board approved the motion.

Oris Ladner, Irate because he claims the board is "playing politics," opposed a motion to hire Windell Ladner, brother of board member Louie Ladner, as maintenance man at HNC.

"Two weeks ago I read a letter issued to schools about no more playing politics in school," Ladner said.

"If this isn't playing politics, I don't know what is," he continued.

"Every time a board member wants a member of his family hired, he gets hired," he added. "There's too many members of the school board hiring their family."

A roll call vote was taken, with Oris Ladner voting against the hiring of Windell Ladner, Woodrow Ladner and Johnny Banks voting for, and, in accordance with state law, Louie Ladner abstaining.

Louie Ladner stated he feels the hiring of his brother presents no problem of "playing politics" in the system, but added, "We still must be guarded against those practices."

Louie Ladner added he feels his brother is the "best qualified man available for the job."

"I told Haskins (HNC Principal Thad Haskins) to consider Windell on his own merits, not just because he is my brother," the board member emphasized.

Other new employees approved by the board include Elizabeth Betty Benvenuti, speech therapist, HNC Elementary; Karen Pennington, learning disabilities teacher, Gulfview Elementary; Clark Cropp, math teacher, HNC; Stephen Hodges, basketball coach and social studies, HNC Elementary; and Marsline Cuevas, bus driver.

A new first aid class utilizing a training aid called Resucal-Annie, used for Cardio Pulmonary Resuscitation, taking pulse and mouth to mouth resuscitation, will be offered this year, Randolph said.

The class will be instructed by Evelyn Jacobs, a Registered Nurse, he added.

Trombley named library select committee head

Fran Trombley of Hancock County has been named chairman of a committee to organize a Grassroots Creative Conference on Libraries in the South Mississippi area.

Mrs. Trombley, executive secretary to Bay St. Louis Mayor Larry Bennett, serves as chairman of the Hancock County Library System Board of Trustees.

The Governor's Library Conference is one of the 50 state library conferences which are preliminary to the White House Conference on Library and Information Service, being planned for October, 1979.

Mrs. Trombley stated that the area meeting will be announced after she returns from Jackson today where she is attending a strategy meeting with other district chairmen and the Mississippi Library Commission.

The district area represented by Mrs. Trombley includes Pearl River, Hancock, Harrison, Jackson and George Counties.

Lest we forget!!

This week, only 50 miles away in New Orleans, the American Legion is holding its 60th National Convention.

The members of the American Legion are reminders of conflicts of this century that challenged our freedoms as Americans. The conflicts we speak of are World War I, World War II, The Korean Conflict and the Vietnam War.

There were thousands who gave their lives for the freedom of this Country during those four conflicts. And whether you agreed with the Korean Conflict or the Vietnam War or not, there still were those who gave their lives.

Those who gave their lives cannot tell us about the Wars and the hell of wars, but, the American Legion members from throughout the United States and its Territories can tell you about the hell of war and how our soldiers gave their lives for this Country.

Not many are left from World War I; we in our County of Hancock have several, all around 80 years old, who fought in the trenches of France for world Freedom.

Many American citizens have not had the unfortunate opportunity of seeing the horrors of War, and really don't know what it is all about.

We, having had an opportunity of visiting Walter Reed Hospital in Washington, D. C. saw the liter patients there. You know the ones, without arms or legs. Some had neither arms nor legs, they were grim reminders of the cost of Freedom for you and me.

We, as Americans should never lower our guard. If we do, we do an injustice to those who gave their lives for us as American Military men, to those who carried the scars of wars to their graves with them.

We can go anywhere, do anything we want to do in America, because we are free, but, let us not forget the price Americans paid for our Freedom.

We extend our congratulations to the American Legion on its 60th Anniversary. We thank all the Legionnaires of America for their contribution to our peace.

God Bless America, God Bless those who gave their lives for our Freedom.

Group grateful for program

Mr. Billy Rhodes, Director
Summer Arts and Crafts
Program
Valena C. Jones Center
Bay St. Louis

Dear Sir:

I am writing this letter in regard to the Arts and Crafts Program given this summer. The parents of these youngsters who participated in this program wish to express our appreciation to you and yours for providing this fine and successful program.

We would especially like to give a special thanks to the Parks and Playground Department of the City of Bay St. Louis in making this project possible for our youngsters to show their artistic exhibits and taking the time in training and instructing them to create such beautiful arts and crafts. Many of the concerned parents of the youngsters enrolled in the program were unable to attend and take an active part in this exhibition due to having to work etc.

However, I am retired and having the spare time I was able to visit and see the many youngsters in action and their interest in working with the many arts and crafts they created.

I speak for all the concerned parents in this outstanding city who had youngsters enrolled in this summer program.

Again, thank you on behalf of our children.

Anniversary recalls Camille

Dear Sir:

Enclosed you will find a poem I wrote regarding Hurricane Camille, which I was a victim of, like so many other people on the coast and even towns miles away from the coast.

I wrote the first part a few weeks after the storm when I was sitting in the kitchen of my small loaned trailer, just looking out at emptiness all around me, day after day. This was in the small town of Clermont Harbor, which was almost totally destroyed.

However, through sweat and determination, the people stayed and rebuilt their homes, as we did also.

Now, nine years later, while thinking about the approaching anniversary of Hurricane Camille, Aug. 17th-heaven forbid, I wrote the other paragraphs. It's sort of a reflection of what everybody thinks about when they recall the incidents that came about after Hurricane Camille. I know I did.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Mary I. Richards
Hattiesburg and
Clermont Harbor

CAMILLE

One Sunday morn the Coast was so calm
The wind was soft and it sang a sweet song,
But nightfall grew with a thunder of sound
A lady named Camille had visited our town.

She blew up our houses and tumbled our trees
She drowned us with water and we fell to our knees
We prayed to our Lord to spare us our lives
To give us the courage to fight back and survive.

It's all over now, Lord help us to forget
That long August 17th, without love or regret,
For a girl named Camille, quite dead in her grave,
Who left a history of misery, cause she didn't behave!

Nine years have passed now and it's still fresh in my mind
How I prayed for the faith I thought I never would find
Then when I looked around and saw others in the same distress
I realized that God had just put us all to the test.

It was my husband and my children that made me see the light,
That we had our lives to be thankful for and try with all our might
To live, to begin again and put the past behind,
This was to be our goal that we would always keep in mind.

It is said that a lot good comes out of something bad
Almost all has been replaced, especially the friends I thought I never had
So Camille will long be remembered for what we lost and what we found
Like the courage, unity, and neighborly love it took to rebuild our lives and our town.

Capdepon

a Red Cross employee at the County Courthouse, the post was named after her brother who was killed at Chateau Thierry, France, according to Capdepon.

The Chateau Thierry battle was the "turning point of the war" according to Capdepon. From that victory we went to Belleau Woods which others say was the "turning point."

Capdepon left home to join the Marines the same day war was declared, June 6, and went into quarantine. He left for overseas on the Agmedon which carried 7,000 American troops.

Capdepon discussed some of the problems of the big crowd on the ship in regards to eating meals, etc. He went in a convoy of ships, each one carrying 15,000 troops. His comments about conditions on the troop ships are unprintable.

As a Marine, Capdepon served as a messenger. He traveled by whatever means he could get - train, motorcycle, truck, mule, foot or any type of transportation possible.

Capdepon said the messages he carried were very important, as communications were not like they are today. He carried troop movement information from one headquarters to another, etc.

When he was on a mission, he traveled light, got what food he could from wherever he could.

On one trip to Italy he saw an American in the Italian Army, got to chatting with him and bought them some coffee at a little cafe and they gave him their wine. The Italians carried wine rations in their canteens, according to Capdepon.

At Chaumont, France, AEF Headquarters (American Expeditionary Forces), Capdepon saw General John F. Pershing and Eddie Rickenbacker who was the general's chauffeur when the war ended.

When the General would travel, his chauffeur would blow his horn and all the people would clear the road, Capdepon said.

At the end of the war, Capdepon was a corporal in the Marines serving with a detachment at Chalo Surmarne, France. He was sent to Paris for reassignment.

Upon his arrival in Paris, he heard there was a group trying to form an organization similar to the French Foreign Legion, uniting all American Troops.

He attended the first caucus, but was unable to attend all of them because he was reassigned.

Capdepon says he spent three weeks delivering one message, using a box car as transportation. One time he said people he was to deliver a message to were out looking for him as he had trouble getting rides.

Upon his return to the U.S., Capdepon said he was "de-coaterized" in Brooklyn N.Y. "They took all our clothing and gave us a salve to rub all over us," he recalls.

Upon his discharge from the Marines, Capdepon served as a lieutenant in the National Guard for eight years.

He started working for the Post Office in Bay St. Louis on Aug. 19, 1919. He remained there until 1944 and went to work at a Navy base until World War II was over.

Capdepon tended bar at the American Legion Post for awhile and then he worked for the City of Bay St. Louis as a bookkeeper and retired finally from there.

Capdepon is married to Waveland native Elizabeth Jones and they have four children: A son, Henry Jr., is a retired Marine captain, residing in Gulfport. There are three daughters: Mrs. Elsie Mae Higgins of Gulfport, Mrs. Gladys Bassett of Pascagoula and Mrs. Gloria Bolin of Cupertino, Calif. The Capdepons have 12 grand-children and 13 great-grandchildren.

school football team played against St. Stanislaus in Bay St. Louis. He can still remember the pain of those sand spurs.

Early in 1919 McCutcheon joined D. H. Holmes as a copywriter in the advertising department.

In May 1919 he received an invitation from Louisiana Governor John M. Parker to attend the organizational meeting of the American Legion in St. Louis, Mo.

McCutcheon said the meeting was held at the Jefferson Schubert Theatre. One thing which really stays with McCutcheon's memory of the convention was the fact that everyone was on the same basis because rank was forgotten.

There was a big discussion on what name to call each American Legion outfit. Some wanted dughout and the navy men objected; some suggested lookout and the army men objected.

McCutcheon said this went on for sometime until someone suggested "Post." It was hard to believe, according to McCutcheon, how everyone liked the suggestion and that was how the word Post came to being in the American Legion.

The first person to be nominated for National Commander of the American Legion was Theodore Roosevelt, Jr.

Roosevelt had been in Paris with fellow officers for the formation of the American Legion.

McCutcheon said that Roosevelt got up after a solid 15 minutes of applause. He gave a long speech about not wanting to use the position to further himself politically and declined to accept the invitation.

McCutcheon will attend the Society of American Legion Founders business meeting Saturday at the Hyatt Regency in New Orleans. He said he is the only member surviving from the 12 Louisiana delegates in 1919.

McCutcheon remained with D. H. Holmes until his retirement in 1963.

McCutcheon says he and his wife have been full-time residents of Pass residents of Pass Christian since then. He is past president of the Pass Christian Chamber of Commerce, a United Fund group chairman and publicity chairman.

He is active in St. Paul's Catholic Church of Pass Christian, a past American Legion Commander, and now a member of Joe Graham American Legion Post No. 19 in Gulfport. He is also a member of the Pass Christian Rotary Club.

On July 11, 1923, McCutcheon married Germaine Chauviere of New Orleans. They are the parents of two sons, one daughter and nine grandchildren.

One son is a doctor in Corpus Christi, Texas, and their daughter lives in Pass Christian.

The other son, Edward Davis McCutcheon was a marine killed in action during World War II.

McCutcheon noted more than 25,000 Legionnaires are scheduled in New Orleans for the 60th annual convention and that the hotels and motels are booked solid with overflows spilling over to the Mississippi Gulf Coast.

Turcotte questions lone repair bid on Bay school buses

By RICH ADAMS

A lengthy discussion of fair bid advertising on purchase, repair and maintenance of school buses was included in a lengthy meeting of the Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School Board this week.

A conflict arose between Superintendent J.D. McCullough and Walter E. Turcotte, board member, when McCullough said a single bid for bus maintenance and repair from Turan Lane Chevrolet in Bay St. Louis had increased labor charges from $10 to $12 an hour.

McCullough said Turan Lane got the bid because the schools in the district only bought Chevrolet buses, including three new buses bought this year to be delivered in October.

Turcotte argued that the schools only had Chevrolet buses because no other dealers were asked for bids.

He said Charlie Henderson Ford in Waveland was sent a copy of an original letter sent to Turan Lane, and no bid was made by the Ford dealer.

Turcotte said he felt an original letter requesting bids should be sent to each dealer in the area from now on.

"Through common courtesy, we offer ourselves to both dealers," said McCullough.

"We haven't dealt with Ford because I have never seen buses out there," he added.

Turcotte then argued labor for repairs and maintenance were too high, being raised two dollars over last year's charges.

"I think we should set up our own self-contained maintenance system," Turcotte proposed.

Turcotte said the lowest monthly repair bill last year for labor alone was $470.

He speculated with the labor increase the bills would run $500 to $600 each month.

"The prices are high," McCullough contended, "but we can't do anything about it."

"The administration always goes over bills, and then I go over them," he continued.

"Once or twice I checked the bills out, and they were correct," he added.

Robert Hamilton, president pro-tem of the board, proposed in the future that every dealer be notified with an original letter and be given the chance to make a bid.

The board consisted of a quorum of three members, Hamilton, named president pro-tem in the absence of board President Virginia Gex, Turcotte, and Maurice Singleton.

A vacant spot in the board still exists with resignation of Gene Townsend.

In other action Monday night, Stephen H. Roberts, Bay High School science teacher, submitted his resignation, stating that he had been offered a college level teaching job with Jeff Davis Junior College.

McCullough contended it was too close to school opening to allow Roberts to leave without first finding a replacement.

"We've done our best to find a qualified replacement," stated McCullough, "But we must consider our own school program."

High school principal Robert McGee said he had "three or four applicants" for the job, and was interviewing an applicant from McComb County Tuesday.

Roberts stated the job with Jeff Davis offers a 50 percent increase in salary, and he needed an answer by Tuesday afternoon.

He said he had talked to Warren Morcom, a Bay Junior High School science teacher, and Morcom "showed a strong interest in the job."

McGee said Morcom had applied for the job, but was on vacation and was unavailable for comment.

"I have always found that if a man stays at a job he doesn't really want to be at, he stays with a bitter taste in his mouth," said Turcotte.

"If Roberts wants to be released, I say give him an outright release," he added.

Turcotte moved to release Roberts, seconded by Maurice Singleton, and the board approved.

McCullough proposed hiring Eleanor Marquez Perniciaro as Junior High learning disability teacher to bring the district within regulations of Public Law 94-142.

The board approved the hiring of Ms. Perniciaro along with Gary Blazie as Junior High physical education and football coach; Frances Crawley, Senior High special education; Cindy Detrick, Senior High English; and Jerry Spell, Senior High physical education and basketball coach.

The board approved all new teachers.

Not Guilty...

obligation to my client to go to the site," Depreo's attorney added.

As a result of his on-site investigations, Atchison claims to have solid evidence that a "large amount of gasoline was used to start a fire intended to hide the murder."

Depreo told police after his arrest that he did not use any gasoline, but "just lit the covers on fire," Atchison said.

"How can I investigate to see if any gasoline was used if I don't go to the scene of the crime," Atchison stated. "I can't see any reason why he (Earl Laddner) would want to keep me from the scene of the murder," Atchison continued.

"I said from the start of this case that something is wrong, and I still believe that. Somebody thinks that there is something out there," he added.

Also last week, Atchison wrote District Attorney Albert Necaise asking Necaise to file a request for court order with Judge Floyd Logan who presided at the July term of Hancock County Circuit Court in which the Depreo indictments were handed down.

Through the proposed order, Atchison is seeking an extension of a 15-day period granted by the judge in which Atchison was to file preliminary motions such as change of venue.

Judge Logan granted the 15 days to the Depreo defense on July 29, date of the defendant's arraignment.

Atchison said in his letter to Necaise his reasons for seeking the extension include the fact he has not yet received access to all physical evidence accumulated by the state in the case.

A motion of discovery filed by Atchison at the arraignment was granted by the judge, allowing to defense access to "all tangible evidence" in the case. Atchison claims he has not received copies of ballistics reports from the State Police Crime Laboratory in Jackson on a pistol allegedly used by the murderer.

Necaise stated Tuesday that Judge Logan "would file the order with minor changes from the original."

As of late Wednesday, however, the judge's order had not been filed with Hancock County Circuit Court, according to Clerk Henry Otis.

Otis declined to speculate on whether the elapsed time will prevent Atchison from filing for a change of venue prior to start of the trial.

Atchison has maintained he is not planning to seek a change of venue, stating "My client is innocent and I would welcome the opportunity to prove it in Hancock County."

HEALTH TIPS

Everyone needs proteins, carbohydrates, fats, vitamins and minerals in the daily diet.

Without them, the body can't function efficiently and health may be endangered.

A pamphlet of the American Medical Association points out that the secret to a successful reducing diet is not a dramatic shake-up in your eating habits - it's just a little bit less of everything.

Of course, if you want to lose weight, there are some extravagances you can't afford, like whipped cream-topped chocolate double-dip sundaes. Discretion and common sense is the better part of dieting.

You're more likely to stick to your diet if you balance and vary the menus. Select foods from the four broad categories of (1) the milk group - milk, cheese, and ice cream (2) the meat group - beef, veal, lamb, pork, poultry, eggs and fish (3) the vegetable-fruit group - fruit and vegetables rich in Vitamins A and C (4) the bread-cereal group - whole grain, enriched or restored.

Crash diets usually are not recommended. You can and probably will lose weight, but you won't get all the nutrients you need to stay healthy. And you certainly cannot stay on a fad crash diet the rest of your life.

'Heidi' curtain opens

The children's play "Heidi" will be presented in the Conference Room of the City-County Public Library, US-80, today, Thursday, at 10:30 a.m. and again Friday at 7:30 p.m.

The public is invited. Reception will follow the Friday evening performance for the cast, their families and friends.

Retardation center opens services to Hancock County

South Mississippi Retardation Center in Long Beach, serving six counties including Hancock, is now open and admitting residents, the center reports.

Dove Cottage, SMRC's first residence hall with a 24-bed capacity, has taken in its first occupants.

"Every effort to keep the cottage 'home-like' as well as convenient has been made," said Patricia McCarthy, coordinator of residential services.

All SMRC residents will have habitation plans worked out by a team of specialists, McCarthy said.

All plans will be geared toward helping a resident achieve his maximum capabilities.

Many residents will, with proper training and treatment, be able to leave the center to attend other services such as activity centers and sheltered workshops, she added.

Other residents may be discharged to outside settings.

Such as foster homes in the local area.

The SMRC diagnosis and evaluation center has been completed and staffed, she continued.

The new building will be used to test both community and residential clients, plan home training programs, and make recommendations for referrals to other programs.

The staff is composed of six administrators, five diagnostic and evaluation personnel, a dietitian, three Registered Nurses and two Licensed Practical Nurses, and 15 other social and staff workers.

Completion of two other cottages similar to the first is projected for spring 1979.

Product Safety agency cites sewing machine

Bernina Sewing Machines of Switzerland, in cooperation with the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission (CPSC), announced a voluntary corrective action program involving the Type 213 foot pedals of Bernina Sewing machines manufactured between late 1969 and January, 1976.

Sewing machine owners will be notified directly by the company and sent an easy-to-install kit, free of charge, to remedy the problem.

The foot pedal (or speed regulator) of the sewing machine may overheat if a switch within the pedal remains in a "closed" position. This may increase the possibility of a short circuit or fire in the pedal.

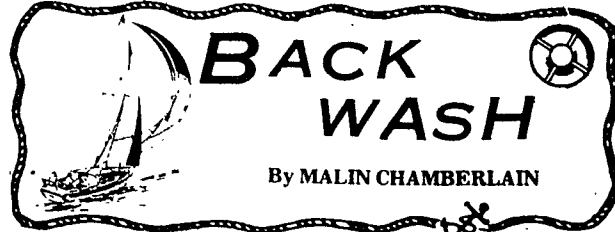

As a safety precaution, owners are urged to unplug the machine when not in use and to avoid placing foreign objects on or near the foot pedal.

According to Bernina, no injuries have been reported in connection with the sewing machines sold with this foot pedal. To correct the overheating problem, Bernina is offering a thermally activated switch for all the Type 213 black foot pedals. This number is stamped on the bottom of the foot pedal. (Those pedals stamped with a blue "T" already contain the thermally activated switch.) Bernina is identifying and contacting the owners of these sewing machines by letter to advise them that the thermally activated switch should be installed without delay.

Consumers with the Type 213 foot pedals should contact their local Bernina retailer or any of Bernina's four American distributors if they have not been notified by the company or if they have questions concerning the recall program.

DISPLAY ART - Senior citizen artists were given a reception Thursday at the Hancock County Library in Bay St. Louis. Thier works of art will be on display and can be viewed during regular Library hours. (Staff photo - Ellis Cuevas)

BWYC skippers have been working hard this past week capturing several top regattas locally and nationally. Marc Eagan and his brother Bubby came home with trophies for the Flying Scot Sailing Association's National Men's Championship in Riverside, Conn.

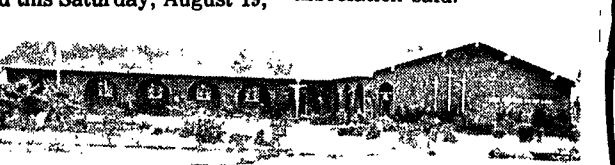

Marc took first place while Bubby, very close behind, took second. An impromptu party was held at the club to welcome them back and congratulate them for their excellent sailing. Marc now holds the title for another year, having also won in 1977.

Cindy Stieffel, Ellen Eagan, Judy McKinney with crew Amy Chapman took four first to win the Knost Regatta, the Ladies GYA Sailing Competition held at Pass Christian Yacht Club Skipperettes from all of the GYA (Gulf Yachting Association) Clubs were sailing thru rough seas and threatening weather for this annual trophy.

Generally a three race series, but due to a technical protest a fourth race was sailed on Sunday. The extra competition did not hinder BWYC skipper, Judy McKinney from finishing first a second time to give the BWYC team the regatta. Congratulations!

Cindy Stieffel, the United States Yacht Racing Union National Women's Champion, and her crew Judy McKinney and Amy Chapman are preparing to go to Newport, R.I. to compete in this year's regatta in order to retain her title.

Corps' permits easier to get on Gulf Coast

Mississippians in counties east of and including the Pearl River basin can now get general permits for minor structures or activities in navigable waters from the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers in about half the normal permit processing time.

In order to streamline and improve the permitting procedures for work in navigable waters and adjacent wetlands, the Mobile District Corps of Engineers, the Mississippi Marine Resources Council and the Mississippi Air and Water Pollution Control Commission have established a general permit program.

The new general permit can be issued for work only in those counties in Mississippi under the jurisdiction of the Mobile District.

Counties included in the district area in addition to Hancock are those in the Pearl River basin and eastward to the Alabama state line.

The time required for processing applications under the general permit will be reduced to about two weeks. Only those activities which cause minimal adverse environmental impact and have minimal cumulative effect on the environment are eligible to be processed under the general permit program.

Some of the activities covered by the new permit are piers, boatslips, bulkheads, riprap, mooring piling or dolphins for non-commercial activities, aerial transmission lines, and submarine pipelines.

Specifically excluded from the general permit provision are canals, jetties, groins and bulkheads which require more than one cubic yard of backfill per lineal foot.

The new Mississippi program is similar to the general permitting procedures used in Alabama and Florida.

For further information on the general permit program in Mississippi, contact Regulatory Functions Branch at (205) 690-2581, or write to the Regulatory Functions Branch, Corps of Engineers, P.O. Box 2288, Mobile, Alabama, 36628.

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers approved three permits for work and structures in navigable waterways and cancelled three previously issued permits in Hancock County for July, a Corps monthly report indicates.

John D. Lea was issued a permit to construct an oyster reef in the Mississippi Sound on July 12, the report stated.

United Gas Pipe Line Company was issued a permit on July 21 to install, operate and maintain a gas pipeline across Jourdan River near Kiln.

Diamondhead Corporation was authorized to perform dredging in Cutoff Bayou off Bay St. Louis, the report continued.

On July 20, applications of Lloyd J. Ladnier and John E. Ladnier were cancelled or withdrawn on two oyster reefs in the Mississippi Sound, the report said.

An application to perform maintenance dredging at Henderson Point near Pass Christian by Joe M. Bowen is listed as cancelled or withdrawn on July 25, the report concluded.

IT MAKES SENSE
Common sense is never out of place - especially in the water. Some common sense tips from the Boy Scouts of America are - never dive into unknown water, never take a dare, and avoid swimming long distances in open water. It makes sense!

Where do you go to spend a relaxing and enjoyable weekend? Buccaneer State Park has a lot to offer campers as well as Bay-Waveland residents. There are two nature trails to discover: Old Hickory located on a sand ridge known as Jackson's ridge where Andrew Jackson camped here with his troops in preparation for the Battle of New Orleans in 1814, and Pirates Paradise Nature Trail.

Other attractions are playground equipment for the young at heart and bicycles for rent, $1 per hour.

For our wading pool for cooling off in the summer heat, tickets can be purchased at the Camp Store under five free; 5-11, 50 cents; 12 and up $1. Tickets are good from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. on day of purchase. Pool hours of operation run Tuesday thru Sunday.

Tennis buffs can play on our two lighted tennis courts. We also have basketball, shuffleboard and volleyball courts.

Should you want a place to picnic, Buccaneer has the facilities. Three pavilions are available for rent and a picnic area awaits you on a first come, first served basis. Under the oak trees is a beautiful area for relaxing with friends. Take advantage of this park, it's one of 18 operated by the Mississippi State Park Commission.

Local drive chairman is Kay Williams

Mrs. Kay Williams has accepted chairmanship for the 1978 "Breath of Life" campaign in Waveland and Lake Shore, according to Paul McMullon, state campaign chairman for Cystic Fibrosis.

The campaign, to be held this fall, will have the theme "Give The Kids A Chance to Live."

At present Cystic Fibrosis research is working on a way to detect the carriers of the Cystic Fibrosis gene. Over 80 cents of each dollar raised will be used for care center, like the Mississippi Cystic Fibrosis Center in Jackson and for research and education, according to McMullon.

Library Program Continues

The Bay St. Louis Library will host the fourth session of Self Discovery through Humanities at 10:30 a.m., Friday.

The course, conducted by Mrs. Alberta Butler, is titled "Americans and the Land: A program of Literature, History, Art and Music," and is open to all interested senior citizens.

Materials are provided free from the National Council on Aging with a grant from the National Endowment of the Humanities.

The course is sponsored by the Southern Mississippi Planning & Development District Area Agency on Aging.

Lay Carmelites

Third Order meets in Bay

The Third of Lay Carmelites met Sunday afternoon at the home of Mrs. A. K. Mar-tinovich St. with Mrs. Lillian Carver, president, conducting the business session.

Deacon Jim Lockwood, spiritual director from New Orleans, gave a teaching on St. Teresa of Avila and St. John of the Cross.

Members from Blount, Bay St. Louis and Waveland attended.

Elvis memorial featured at library

Elvis Presley memorabilia is now on display at City-County Public Library in commemoration of his death, August 16, 1977.

Included in the display is a set of 1956 Elvis Presley bubble gum cards; a scarf worn by Elvis during one of his concerts; limited edition records; pieces of tile from Graceland, the Presley mansion in Memphis; a souvenir copy of Elvis' driver's license; an Elvis Presley dollar bill and many posters and photographs from the collection of June Dearman.

Of special interest is a shadow-box applique picture of Elvis in concert by Mrs. Kearny Roberts of Waveland. The Elvis memorabilia will be on display through the month of August at City-County Public Library, Hwy. 90, Bay St. Louis.

FIRST THINGS FIRST

When a swimmer cries for help...wait. Can you reach him from the shore? Is there something you can throw to him? How about a boat? The Boy Scouts of America urge you to remember. Reach, Throw or Row...then Go.

DOLLAR BILL TEST

Don't spend your money! Instead, the Boy Scouts of America suggest using it to check appliance seals in your home. Close your refrigerator door on a dollar bill. If the bill slides out easily - you're wasting energy!

Theater sets trial drama in Hancock Courthouse

The Bay St. Louis Little Theatre takes on a new dimension August 30, 31 and September 1 and 2 when presentations of "The Night of January 16th" will be performed in the Court Room of the Hancock County Courthouse.

This play, in the courtroom setting, involves the murder trial of a secretary accused of killing her employer, a millionaire entrepreneur. But was he really murdered?

Mike Hamm, in his first venture as a director, has brought together the combined efforts of a multitude of talented characters.

His selection of a cast to perform in this dramatic effort shows that his previous efforts and activities as an actor in the Little Theatre were a good training ground for becoming a director.

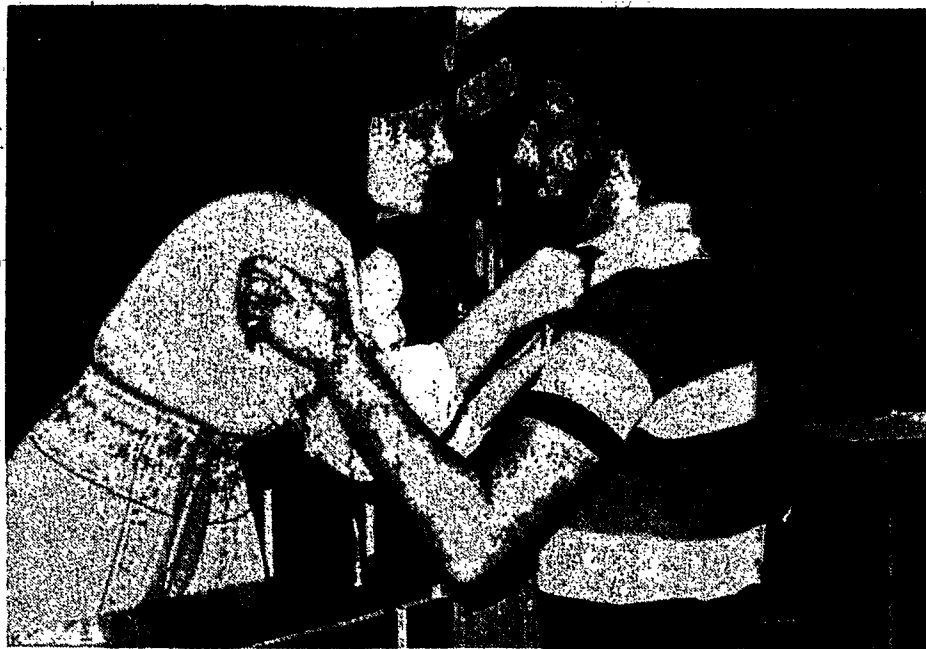

When you sprinkle in the abilities of two veteran actors, Dan Griffin as the district attorney and Ted Stechman as the defense counselor, the result promises to be an intense, moving, action packed court case.

Lynn Stechman, playing the role of the secretary on trial for her life and Golda Lister, a new-comer to the Little Theatre and widow of the murdered (?) executive, are being looked to for excellent performances in this drama.

"The Night of January 16th" has many tense moments interspersed with comic relief provided by the witnesses and other members of the cast.

The play is well written with many surprises, promising to keep the audience on the edge of their seats.

Lyn Stechman, Tim Bourgeois and Randolph Bourgeois

The jury for "The Night of January 16th" will be selected from the audience each night and this jury will determine whether the defendant is guilty or not guilty of murder in first degree.

The Hancock County Courthouse court room has a seating capacity of only 100 persons. Because of this limited seating, Little Theatre members will be admitted prior to 7:45 p.m., at which time tickets will then be sold to the general public on a first come-first served basis with the play scheduled to begin each night at 8:15 p.m.

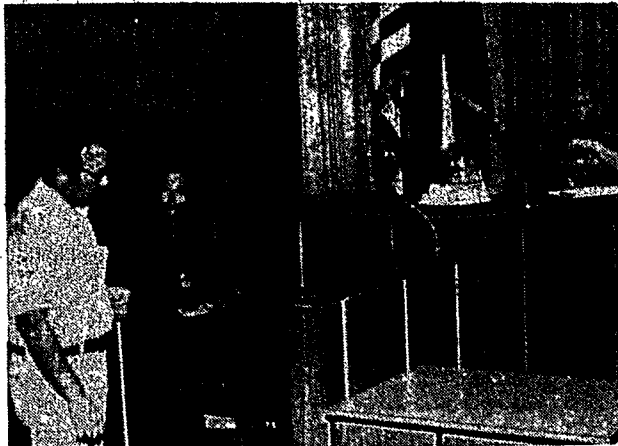

A blend of newcomers with veteran performers make up the supporting cast to those previously mentioned.

Performing for the first time will be Barbara and Patrick Neely, Becky Rotundo, Layne Bourgeois and Betty Stechman.

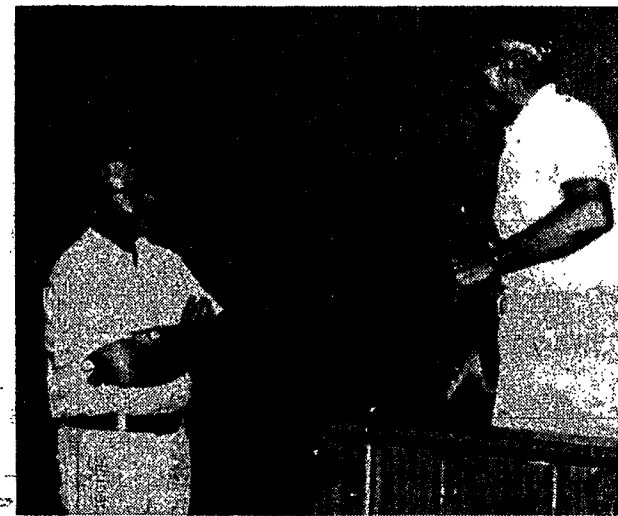

To these are added veteran performers Tim Bourgeois, Rick Rotundo, Richard Taylor, Renee Ann Bourgeois, Max Berns, Lynn Shaw, Hansel Baxter, Michael and Sam Cuevas and Randolph Bourgeois.

Behind the scenes as technical director is John Holmes and the producer for "The Night of January 16th" is Theresa "Terry" Bourgeois.

Tickets on sale at the door will be $3 per person.

Ted Stechman, Goldie Listner and Randolph Bourgeois

Search for roots begins at City-County Library

BY PRIMA WUSNACK
CITY-COUNTY LIBRARIAN

The search for your family roots is one of the most exciting, pleasurable, and gratifying hobbies you can enjoy. What other hobby can take you to other lands through study, writing, or possibly visiting in person.

History will come alive with true-life stories filled with human successes, failures, triumphs, love and paths. As you delve into records of the past, you will broaden your knowledge of geography, customs, laws and life in general.

In discovering the records of your forefather's births, deaths, marriages, divorces, land transfers, and moves, you will find many real-life mysteries. Many of these you will be able to solve very quickly. Others will keep you in suspense for years.

But where to begin in your search? At City-County Public Library there are several books with step-by-step guides to tracing your family tree no matter how many challenges your ancestry presents.

THE HOW TO FIND YOUR FAMILY ROOTS by Timothy Field is designed to help any person to trace his ancestry back hundreds of years, regardless of descent. The book is specifically designed to be used by people of any ethnic origin.

The author gives special assistance to people whose ancestry presents unique challenges: he leads adoptees through governmental red tape; enables blacks to find rare records dating back to the 1800's, and, for those of Jewish descent, tells how to unearth obscure documents in European towns and villages.

The book reveals in step-by-step fashion how to deal with foreign governments and records by mail or in person; how to readily find and use reference texts, special libraries, and rare-book dealers; how to ferret out valuable information from archives, records, offices, genealogical and hereditary societies, consulates, birth, death, and military records; and how to locate otherwise hard-to-find documents like old parish and church records.

The reader also learns how to find important clues from such diverse sources as family photographs, heirlooms, and silver, steamship passenger lists, plantation records, and even generations-old tombstones.

UNITED STATES GUIDE TO FAMILY RECORDS: WHERE AND HOW TO WRITE FOR FAMILY RECORDS IN THE U.S. AND OUTLYING AREAS is an easy to follow, up-to-date guide in writing for vital family information.

Do you need a birth or death record or marriage or divorce record? This guide tells you in easy-to-understand directions how to go about getting the information you will need. It will help you gather some of the most important records you will ever need even if you aren't searching for your roots. In addition, it includes a vital "Ask Questions Now" page to help you obtain valuable information from family members.

THE HOW BOOK FOR GENEALOGISTS IS NOT ONLY DESIGNED TO GIVE YOU a start along the ancestor trail - telling you how to begin and how to continue - but it also has many other helpful suggestions for the long-time genealogist and the newest neophyte. You will find in it a relationship chart as easy to read as a mileage chart, showing kinships to ninth cousins, and a formula to figure relationships as far as you may wish to go.

Another feature is the "Dictionary of Words, Terms and Abbreviations." Here are listed and explained hundreds of seldom understood words and terms, local and foreign, used in recording genealogical data. You will use this book as long as you do research on your family tree.

THE RESEARCHER'S GUIDE TO AMERICAN GENEALOGY is a comprehensive guide to genealogy. It is, however, intended not only for the professional genealogist, but also for those who would like to trace their family roots yet have no idea where to begin. The book discusses the basic principles of genealogical research as they apply to American ancestral problems, stressing the use of available tools and adherence to correct research practice. The book is unique in that it combines a discussion of the nature of genealogical research in America with an informative analysis of the materials with which most of the research will be done: census and immigration records, wills, newspapers, church records, libraries, cemeteries, etc.

In your search for your family roots, you will find that census reports offer some of the most valuable information of all records. Upon your request, City-County can borrow microfilm copies of any census report beginning with the first census of the United States in 1790.

Other valuable records are available through the library. The library has several catalogs which will enable you to find what you need.

These include the FEDERAL POPULATION CENSUSES 1790-1890; CATALOG OF NATIONAL ARCHIVES MICROFILM PUBLICATIONS; SELECT LIST OF PUBLICATIONS OF THE NATIONAL ARCHIVES AND RECORDS SERVICE; and in two catalogs on selected subjects: THE AMERICAN INDIAN AND BLACK STUDIES.

Visit the library and begin an exciting hobby filled with intriguing clues and surprising discoveries, where one may even find a prince - or a pirate - in his past.

GREAT PERFORMANCES

Anthony Hopkins stars in the tragic drama "The Arcata Promise" by David Mercer on "Great Performances" at 8 p.m., Wednesday, August 16, on the Mississippi ETV Network. Hopkins, as Theo Gunge, stars in what he has called "a part any actor might dream about." Gunge is a rich, arrogant and successful actor who promises a beautiful young girl that he "will love her, look after her, never hurt or oppress her in any way." He breaks the promise and continues on a collision course with disaster which results in a shattering and unexpected conclusion.

News of St. Clare's

St. Clare's School will hold registration for new students Monday, August 21.

Book day for all students will be Thursday, August 24.

Teachers attend school tutorial training sessions

Hancock County teachers attended a week-long recertification training course in Tutorial Reading under the direction of James P. O'Hara, Hancock North Central Elementary principal, Aug 5-12, according to Terry Randolph, superintendent of schools.

Among highlights of the week was instruction provided by Edwin R. Coamack and assistants Sue Ward and Karen Judgins; all of Farmington, Utah. These professionals were accompanied by Jerome P. Brock, director of the Mississippi Facilitator Project which sponsored the Utah team's appearance.

Funded under Title I, of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act, Hancock County's Programmed Tutorial Reading is an individualized tutoring program for elementary children having difficulty learning to read.

It supplements; rather than supplants; conventional classroom teaching. The teaching strategy employs many elements of programmed instruction: frequent and immediate feedback, specified format, and individualized pace Randolph reported.

MR. AND MRS. CHARLES D. STEWART ARE SHOWN ACCEPTING DELIVERY OF THEIR NEW CHEVROLET MALIBU WGN. FROM TURAN-LANE SALESMAN DON COOPER.

"My wife and I were interested in a Chevrolet Malibu Wagon so we visited Don Cooper at Turan-Lane Chevrolet in Bay St. Louis. Although Turan-Lane didn't have exactly what we wanted, Mr. Cooper used the Chevrolet Locator System and located exactly what we wanted from another dealer. We are well pleased with our car and the friendly, courteous treatment we received."

keeping you in touch

By F. M. Kyle, Jr.
Gulf Coast District Manager

Many people think Directory Assistance is a "free" service. This year it will cost over ten million dollars to provide Directory Assistance in Mississippi. That's $865,000 a month and every month you pay your share of this cost through your telephone bill.

Here's the situation: Directory Assistance gets more than 300,000 calls every weekday in Mississippi.

- * 87 percent of those calls are for numbers already in the telephone directory.
- * One-third of our customers make 90 percent of the calls.
- * And you pay for Directory Assistance whether you use the service or not.

So, on July 18, we proposed to the Mississippi Public Service Commission a plan that would change the way customers pay for Directory Assistance. Briefly the plan provides that the monthly rate for each telephone line would be reduced 50 cents. Customers would receive an allowance of three calls to Directory Assistance each month as part of their monthly charge for basic telephone service to allow for numbers not in the book, new listings, etc. Based on detailed studies and experience in other areas with similar plans this is sufficient to cover most customers' needs. There would be a 20 cent charge for each call over the "three-call" allowance.

In addition, for each in-state long distance call completed from and charged to a telephone during the billing month, one in-state long distance Directory Assistance call (obtained by dialing 1-555-1212) can be made without charge and without having it apply to the three-call allowance.

There will be no charge on calls for long distance numbers outside Mississippi, and of course customers unable to use the directory because of a physical handicap will not be charged. Neither will patients in hospitals, guests in hotels or motels nor customers using coin telephones.

Based on actual experience in areas of the country where similar plans are now in use, we estimate that 9 out of 10 South Central Bell customers in Mississippi would pay less for their telephone service with the plan than without it. Only a very small percentage of customers, those who make a large number of calls to Directory Assistance, would pay more for their service.

We believe this Repricing Plan provides a fairer way for customers to pay for Directory Assistance. It permits those customers who use it less to pay less for their service, and requires only those who use it more to pay more.
